

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

MICHAEL S. BAREFIELD, SR.,

Plaintiff,

v.

K. GIBBS,

Defendant.

No. 2:23-cv-01312-DC-EFB (PC)

ORDER

Plaintiff is a state prisoner proceeding without counsel in an action brought under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. ECF No. 11. On March 12, 2024, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a), the court determined that plaintiff's first amended complaint (FAC) alleged a potentially cognizable First Amendment claim against defendant K. Gibbs, who is employed as a mailroom supervisor at Mule Creek State Prison.¹ ECF No. 12 at 5. Defendant now moves for a more definite statement under Rule 12(e).² ECF No. 18. Plaintiff has not responded.

¹ Plaintiff's claims against Kathleen Allison and Patrick Covello were dismissed with leave to amend within 30 days. ECF No. 12 at 5. Plaintiff's claims against Howard Moseley were also dismissed without prejudice. ECF No. 19 at 2. Plaintiff did not file any further amendment of the FAC.

² Because defendant's motion requests relief only under Rule 12(e), and does not seek dismissal in the alternative, it is a non-dispositive motion within the purview of a magistrate judge. Callum v. Austin Capital Bank, No. 2:21-cv-01484-JAM-CKD-PS, 2021 WL 4594510, at *1 n.2 (E.D. Cal. Oct. 6, 2021) ("Under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(A) and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 72, federal magistrate judges have authority to issue orders on certain 'non-dispositive' matters."); see also Alvarez v. Morris-Shea Bridge Company, Inc., No. 1:23-cv-01725-JLT-BAM, 2024 WL 1722415 (E.D. Cal. Apr. 22, 2024) (magistrate judge's recommendation regarding motion for Rule 12(b)(6) dismissal or for alternative relief of more definite statement under Rule 12(e)); Selck v. County of Sacramento Board of Supervisors, No. 2:19-cv-952-JAM-EFB PS, 2020 WL 1046807 (E.D. Cal. Mar. 4, 2020) (same).

The Rule 12(e) Motion

Defendant's motion states that she seeks to obtain the dates, timeframes, and actions attributable to Defendant Gibbs in order to respond to the operative complaint and develop a defense. She adds that her "request is not burdensome as the requisite information was contained in a Statement of Facts attachment to the initial complaint, but omitted from the operative First Amended Complaint (FAC) (ECF No. 1 at 7-15.)." ECF No. 18-1 at 2. Plaintiff neither appended the statement of claim to his FAC, nor requested permission pursuant to Local Rule 220 for his FAC to include the statement of claim.

Defendant maintains that the allegations of the FAC are overly broad and fail to adequately inform her of plaintiff's claims. ECF No. 18-1 at 3. Defendant argues that Local Rule 220 does not permit her to rely upon the original complaint and its statement of claim. Id. According to defendant, it is excessively difficult to respond to the FAC because plaintiff has been in custody for at least four years and she cannot formulate response without having more specific time frames for when the First Amendment violations may have occurred. Id. Defendant asks the court to direct plaintiff to amend the FAC to incorporate the factual allegations against her in the statement of claim, or alternatively to direct plaintiff to amend the FAC to include the entire statement of claim. Id.

Rule 12(e)

Rule 12(e) motions for a more definite statement are generally disfavored because of: (1) the liberal pleading standard in Rule 8(a); and (2) the availability of extensive discovery in the Federal Rules. Famolare, Inc. v. Edison Bros. Stores, Inc., 525 F. Supp. 940, 949 (E.D. Cal. 1981); Apothio, LLC, v. Kern County, 599 F. Supp. 3d 983, 999 (E. D. Cal. 2022). A Rule 12(e) motion is granted only if the complaint fails to fairly notify defendant of the nature of plaintiff's claim to such an extent that the defendant cannot frame a responsive pleading. Apothio, 599 F. Supp. 3d at 999. The motion may be denied if details sought by a Rule 12(e) motion are obtainable through discovery. C.B. v. Sonora School Dist., 691 F. Supp. 2d 1170, 1191 (E.D. Cal. 2010). The court has wide discretion in deciding whether to grant a Rule 12(e) motion. Id.

1 Swierkiewicz v. Sorema, N.A., 534 U.S. 506 (2002), cited in defendant’s motion, holds
2 that plaintiffs in constitutional tort cases are not held to a heightened standard for pleading
3 improper motive. Galbraith v. County of Santa Clara, 307 F.3d 1119, 1125-1126 (9th Cir. 2002).
4 “The liberal notice pleading of Rule 8(a) is the starting point of a simplified pleading system,
5 which was adopted to focus litigation on the merits of a claim.” Swierkiewicz, 534 U.S. at 514
6 (citation omitted). Swierkiewicz did not articulate an expansive standard for a Rule 12(e) motion.
7 The Supreme Court in Swierkiewicz merely observed that Rule 12(e) provides a means to obtain a
8 more definite statement, just as “claims lacking merit may be dealt with through summary
9 judgment under Rule 56.” Id.

10 Analysis

11 The First Amendment claim in the original complaint was dismissed on screening because 12 it failed to allege that any defendant implemented a policy or procedure that resulted in plaintiff’s
13 incoming mail being delayed or that any defendant personally caused a violation of plaintiff’s
14 constitutional rights. ECF No. 8 at 3. Whether plaintiff intentionally or unintentionally omitted
15 the “Statement of Facts” attached to the initial complaint, his First Amendment claim included in 16 the FAC survived screening on a finding that the complaint sufficiently alleges that defendant
17 withheld plaintiff’s mail without legitimate reason, ECF No. 12 at 4, and that is now the operative 18 complaint on which this case proceeds. While defendant correctly observes that the attachment to 19 plaintiff’s earlier complaint could easily be attached to a newly amended complaint, the FAC has 20 survived screening without it. And while perhaps plaintiff’s complaint would, in defendant’s
21 view, be easier to address in an Answer or other responsive pleading if the Statement of Facts
22 were included, the FAC can nevertheless be adequately addressed in a such a pleading.

23 In this case as in any other, if defendant files a Rule 7 answer to the complaint, Rule
24 8(b)(5) permits her to state that she lacks knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief
25 about the truth of an allegation. See Atlas Lifting & Rigging, LLC v. Berner, No. 2:23-cv-00808-
26 KJM-AC, 2023 WL 5836199, at *1 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 8, 2023) (denying motion to strike answer 27 because the answer complied with Rule 8 “by admitting some allegations, denying some 28 allegations specifically, denying others generally and stating [defendant] lacks knowledge or information to admit or deny some allegations”). An answer that pleads lack of sufficient knowledge or information is treated as a denial of the allegation. Chartwell Staffing Services, Inc. v. Jaemar, Inc., No. 23-cv-01382-AJB-KSC, 2023 WL 7006797, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 24, 2023). Such an answer is adequate “[w]here the response fairly meets the substance of the averment being denied.” Id. (citing Albert’s Organics, Inc. v. Holzman, No. 19-CV-07477-PJH, 2020 WL 3892861, at *3 (N.D. Cal. July 10, 2020)). Courts disfavor ruling on factual questions at the pleading stage, and “absent a finding of bad faith, factual allegations in the complaint (or answer) must be tested through the normal mechanisms for adjudicating the merits.” Id. (quoting PAE Gov’t Servs., Inc. v. MPRI, Inc., 514 F.3d 856, 859 n.3 (9th Cir. 2007)); see also Uriarte v. Schwarzenegger, No. 06-CV-1558 W (WMC), 2010 WL 2792000, at *1 (S.D. Cal. July 14, 2010) (finding that defendant’s answers citing lack of knowledge or information “are legitimate denials based on a lack of information”).

In this case as in any other, defendant may use discovery to inquire about the factual bases for plaintiff’s allegations. And contrary to plaintiff’s argument, Local Rule 220 does not constrain defendant’s use of discovery to flesh out the factual details of plaintiff’s First Amendment allegations in his FAC.

For these reasons, the court must deny defendant’s motion.

Conclusion

Accordingly, it is ORDERED that:

1. Defendant’s motion for more definite statement, ECF No. 12, is DENIED; and
2. Defendant may conduct discovery about the factual allegations contained in the original complaint; such permission should in no way be viewed as limiting the permissible scope of discovery, or as limiting plaintiff’s First Amendment claim to the factual allegations of the original complaint.
